

Contents

	Acknowledgments	VII
	List of Figures, Maps, and Tables	IX
1	Introduction	1
2	The Chronology and Geography of Early Shi -Related Manuscripts	8
3	The Distribution of Literary and Technical Manuscripts in Warring States Finds	23
4	Literary Manuscripts and Their Agents	38
5	Material Format, Visuality, and Use of Shi -Related Manuscripts	55
6	Writing, Vocalization, and the Procedures of Reading in Comparative Perspective	71
7	Reading the Poems in Manuscripts: Writing, Orality, and the Question of Stability	85
8	Defining the Canonical: the Poems as Discourse and Social Practice	94
9	Writing after Interpretation	114
10	Conclusion: The Poems as Discourse in Their Interpretive Community at Ying	135
	Appendix: List of the Poems in Warring States Manuscripts from Chu	145
	Bibliography	155
	Index	171